ROBBINSON

A very quiet and orderly annual town meeting was held at Robbinston on Monday, March 27th.

Clarence S. Mulholland was elected First Selectman Assessor and Overseer of the Poor for his eighth term. Mr. Mulholland did not have any opposition.

Contests were decided by the voters on both the officers for Second and Third Selectmen, Assessor and Overseer of the Poor. In this Arthur L. Daggett was successful in defeating Bert J. Tuttle for the Second office and Donald E. Perry defeated John Brooks for the third position.

In the balloting, much interest was centered around the office of Road Commissioner, with four candidates seeking this office. Elton Brooks, was winner with Raymond McNutt running a close second, and Wilder Diffin and Raymond Stanhope both receiving very low vote.

The only other contested office was that of School Committee. Donald E. Perry was elected to this office over Russell Kinney by a large majority.

Lena Stanhope was elected Clerk and Treasurer with no opposition.

The town Warrant contained 39 articles of business. After action on the Warrant was completed, the sum of $14,489.55 had been appropriated to run the town for the ensuing year. The sum does not include State and County taxes or overlay amounting to $7,000, raised for school support.

One article in the warrant asking the town to adopt the Town Manager form of government was the center of attraction. This article was dismissed then discussed for several hours before it was finally defeated. Many of the supporters of the article feel that it was defeated then only after the voters became confused, when they were compelled to vote yes or no on a motion to lay the article on the table instead of being allowed to vote for it or against it. The fight in favor of the town manager was led by First Selectman Clarence Mulholland. Selectman Mulholland pointed out that the town was paying about $2,500 in town officers salaries and that they could secure the service of an out-of-town man for this amount or that they could get a local man for fifteen or eighteen hundred dollars. Mr. Mulholland pointed out the many advantages of this form of government such as efficiency, with one man with a finger on every pulse of the town, convenience to the public, with every service centered in one office; economy from this full-time man, which cannot be had from a low-paid board who have to take their time and attention off the various town departments and go to work elsewhere to make a living.

During a lengthy discussion in which the opposition resorted to sympathy for the various town officers, First Selectman Mulholland stated

BURNING PERMITS AVAILABLE FROM FOREST FIRE W

Bert O'Neill, of District Warden for the Department of Forestry, stated burning permits are for your town forest fire work permits are available for brush, slash, blueberry tures, fields of dry grass material of similar nature the ground is NOT snow.

A permit must be secured to burn on your own land O'Neill.

He pointed out that burning without a permit is a $100 fine or thirty days in both. This permit is given to the person from final authority in case the fire control and causes damage of another, O'Neill.

The purpose of the permit is to prevent forest fires from occurring. In 1949 there were 153 forest fires in Robbinston, 133 of which were brush burning fires in the town forest fire ward. It is entirely up to the person whether or not the person has sufficient manpower to control and other conditions.

Mr. O'Neill concluded that every citizen can help prevent forest fires by cooperating with the fire warden in this matter.

cannot be had from a low-paid board who have to take their time and attention off the various town departments and go to work elsewhere to make a living.

During a lengthy discussion in which the opposition resorted to sympathy for the various town officers, First Selectman Moholland stated that he looked at this, or any other item in town affairs strictly in a business manner and he felt sure that no town could be run to the best advantage if its officers were to be elected and maintained out of sympathy. During this discussion Mr. Moholland made it very clear that he did not oppose the idea of an out-of-town man for manager. He further stated that he desired to retire from the board of selectmen regardless of the outcome of the article. He said that he felt he had given his fair share of service to the town. If they did not desire a town manager he felt that some other person should take over the duties of first selectman and give some of their time in service to the town. In no respect did he ask for any increase in his selectman salary.

After voting on the article and defeating it and on the following article the town voted to raise the first selectman salary to $1,000, an increase of $600 per year. They also raised the salary of the second and third selectman $100 each. At this point Mr. Moholland pointed out to the voters that they had now strengthened the argument for a manager by raising the salaries to over three thousand dollars when a full time manager could be secured for fifteen or eighteen hundred dol-

Robbinston Grange Dedicates New Hall

Tableau presented at Robbinston Grange Dedication by a group of girls in evening dress. Front row, left to right: Helen Murphy, Donna Lincoln, Faye Ingersoll and Beverly Sherman. Back row, left to right, Ruth Johnson, Carolyn Quimby, Lottie York, State Lecturer Cynthia Thompson, Shirley Seeley and Mary MacDonald.

Dedication Service was held recently in Robbinston for the dedication of the new Grange Hall starting at 4:30 by a dinner prepared by the ladies of the host grange.

300 Watch

Master John Brooks welcomed the crowd to start the dedication. Music for the occasion was under the direction of Vernon Pettigrew with the combination band from Robbinston, Charlotte, Dennysville, Pembroke and Perry.

State Master Lewis Guptill of Berwick officiated at the dedication ceremonies, assisted by the local master and other state officers, State Lecturer Lottie York, Winthrop; State Secretary Nellie Hascall, Auburn; Fred Richards, Past District Deputy, Princeton; Ralph Hatton, Deputy, Charlotte; Leta Hatton Juvenile Deputy, Charlotte.

The dedication ode was sung by Helen and Norma Rose Murphy; Leonard Hooper sang "Bless This Hall" as part of the ceremony. Music was also presented by a quartet from St. Stephen.

Ernest Brown gave a brief history on Robbinston Grange and the story of the new Grange Hall by George Freeman.

Presentation of a gift to Retiring Deputy Fred Richard by former State Commissioner of Agriculture, Frank Washburn of Perry.

Lecturer's Program

The lecturer's program took the form of a tableau with Mrs. York delivering a reading.

Taking part were the Misses Faye Ingersoll, Mary MacDonald, Donna Lincoln, Beverly Sherman, Shirley Seeley, Cynthia Thompson, Carolyn Quimby and Helen Murphy.

State officers and distinguished guests spoke following the program, and dancing was also enjoyed. A movie was shown by Marshall Washburn of Perry previous to the meeting.

Mrs. C. M. Washburn of Perry was pianist for this occasion.

Ushers and escorts were the Misses Ruth Johnson, Mary MacDonald, Cynthia Thompson, Faye Ingersoll and Carolyn Quimby.

The dedication program committee included Mrs. Albion Goodwin, Horace Bradford, Mildred Johnson, Wilfred Cantara, Donald Perry, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mrs. Wilfred Cantara, Mrs. Helen Spearin, Fred Thompson and Wilder Diffin.

The building committee were: Noel Cleland, Fred Thompson, Hazel Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Cantara, Edmund Brown, Harold Freeman, Mabel Diffin, Horace Bradford, Parker Johnson, Lillian Brooks, George MacDonald, George Freeman, Clarence Mohalland, Clarence Goodwin, Donald Perry and Harry Brooks.

Officers of Robbinston Grange are: Master John Brooks; Overseer, Noel Cleland; Lecturer, Helen Spearin, Steward, Parker Johnson; Assistant Steward, Donald Perry; Chaplain, Albion Goodwin; Treasurer, Helen G. Cleland; Secretary, Helen V. Cleland; Gatekeeper, William Rafus; Ceres, Cora Goodwin; Pomona, Mildred Johnson; Flora, Delores Cantara; and Lady Assistant Steward, Joyce Perry. Executive Officers, George Freeman, Noel Cleland, and Clarence Goodwin. Home and Community Welfare, Hazel Thompson.

The total sale of Christmas Seal for the state this year was $100,136—about $1200 less than the previous year. Of this amount $61,861 will be kept by local associations for programs in their respective areas $32, 266 will be used to support the state-wide activities of the Maine Tuberculosis Association; and $6,008, six per cent, will go to support the program of research and service of the National Tuberculosis Association.

LET'S HOPE IT'S THE LAST!

One Dead In Accident At Robbinston

Citizens In Area Seek Elimination Of Curve There To Slow Down Accident Rate. Third Serious Accident Recently

The third serious accident this year Mill Cove in Robbinston, which claimed the life of a five-year old boy, has prompted the citizens of that community to appeal to state highway officials and to Governor Cross, for action on the curve that has been a cause of many accidents.

One Dead

John A. MacDonald, of Moncton, N. B., died Monday afternoon of injuries sustained Sunday night, when a family car overturned. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton MacDonald, were in "serious condition" in Calais Regional Hospital. A brother and sister were also injured.

Committee Meets

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Washington County Citizens in Dennyville Monday night, members voted to pass a resolution when the Chamber meets Friday to be presented to some state official calling for immediate action to remedy the dangerous road condition at Mill Cove, according to committee member Francis E. Day of Calais.

"It's a shame that a child has to die before authorities will consider action on the the Mill Cove turn," Day said.

"The chamber feels that it is about time something is done and if highway officials don't act, then we'll find someone who will," he asserted.

Residents and Selectmen of Robbinston discussed the situation Monday with Ralph P. Sawyer, traffic engineer from the state highway department. Sawyer arrived on the scene of Sunday night's fatal accident after a telephone call had been made by Lucius Barrows, chief of the highway department Monday morning by Robbinston resident, Larry Slack, who owns a store and home nearby, which he served as emergency hospital many occasions.

According to Slack, Sawyer said his department would do its best in way of establishing warning signs. Clarence Mulholland, Robbinston's first selectman, plans to call a special town meeting, if necessary, to see about installing and financing adequate lighting on the curve which consists of a sharp curve between two steep hills.

This system of warning motorists of the curve by signs and lights is an adequate temporary measure, Robbinston citizens feel, but what they are going to try to obtain ultimately from the state, according to Slack is a re-routing of that part of Route One.

The first accident this year occurred early in January when a taxi with seven occupants, headed from Eastport to St. Stephen, N. B., came onto the curve, turned over on its side, slid 160 feet, went through the guard rail posts and turned over several times down the steep bank. All were from Canada. The car was demolished.

The second accident occurred in March when two engineers for the Dead River Oil Co. came around the curve heading north also, barely made the turn but got caught in a soft shoulder. The car turned over five or six times, according to state police, and ended up in the middle of the highway near the bridge at the bottom of the hill. Both men were hospitalized and released in three days. The car also was demolished.

There have been many near accidents here in the past several years. The curve itself is deceiving, you mount a little rise just before hitting the curve and your headlights just shine out into the darkness, before you realize the sharpness of the curve. Any speed over 25 miles an hour can be near disastrous. It is without a doubt, a serious condition that should be rectified immediately, before any more lives are lost.

$50,000 Appropriated For Mill Cove Curve

That dangerous curve at Mill Cove in Robbinston that already this year has been the scene of three serious accidents, and has claimed one life, and hospitalized 12 persons, is to be straightened. The welcome news came out of Augusta Monday where, following a conference of the State Highway Commission with State Representative Ernest C. Brown of Robbinston and State Senator Oscar H.
Brown of Eastport, it was announced that the Commission had allotted a special fund of approximately $50,- 000 for an emergency highway project at Mill Cove.

The Maine legislators stated that they had been assured by the commissioners that work on the project would get underway this week under the direction of Engineer Chester Worthlake of Augusta.

Both legislators had been working for this project since January, when a St. Stephen, N. B. taxi with seven persons in it, turned over on the hazardous curve, slid over 150 feet, went through the guard rail and down a bank. The driver was injured and six others were hospitalized. Early last March a Massachusetts car with two men in it came to grief on the curve. The car turned over five times and both men were hospitalized. The third, and worst, accident occurred on the night of April 12, when a Canadian car with a family of five in it failed to make the curve, turned over, went through the guard rails and dropped down the bank and ended up in about the same spot as the taxi. The driver, his wife, and three children, all were hospitalized with serious injuries and one of the children five years old, died shortly after.

The death of this youngster and the resulting publicity focused attention of State Highway officials on the danger spot and they promised immediate action would be taken to remedy the hazardous situation. Robbinston residents, County Attorney Francis E. Day of Calais, and representatives of the Washington County Chamber of Commerce also took action in the matter.

Pvt. Helen E. Murphy

WAC CENTER, Fort. McClellan, Ala.—Pvt. Helen E. Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Murphy, of Robbinston, Me., has been assigned to the Medical Field Service School, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for duty as a student following graduation from eight weeks of basic training at the Women's Army Corps at Fort McClennan, Ala.

While at The Center, which is the permanent home of the Women's Army Corps, Pvt. Murphy received physical fitness training and studied such basic military subjects as Army history, organization and administration, and military courtesies, customs and ceremonies. She also learned the rudiments of close order drill and took part in weekly battalion and regimental parades. Like each enlistee processed through The Center, Pvt. Murphy was tested for general aptitude and interests, and was interviewed twice prior to being awarded an occupational classification.

In addition to the Basic Training Battalion, The Center is also the home station for the 60-piece WAC Band and houses the WAC School, which conducts all officer training programs and the Clerical Procedures and Typing Course for enlisted women.

This And That - Arthur Kallenberg

It was certainly good news to all in Eastern Washington County to learn that the former Seaboard Packing Company's plant at Robbinston will be re-opened and sardine packing operations will start as soon as fish are available.

A company under the name of the Robbinston Canning Company headed by Andrew Haskins of the Haskins Packing Company of Lubec, last week completed negotiations for the purchase of the plant from its most recent owners, the Stinson Packing Company.

About 150 workers, mostly women, will be employed at the star. Mr. Haskins told this writer that, operating at normal capacity, workers would earn about $150,000 in wages and other thousands would be spent for fish, boating and materials, etc., during a fish-packing season.

The Robbinston plant is one of the largest and most modern in Maine. It was built in 1951 and some fish were packed that year. It operated in 1952 but was idle the following year. In 1954 the Stinson Company again operated the plant with operations being under the management of Mr. Haskins. It remained closed the entire 1955 season.

Mr. Haskins pointed out that successful operation of the plant depends on cooperation of the people in the area — it takes workers to pack fish — and the cooperation of the fish themselves. Lets hope that herring of a size and quality show up in large numbers. No buses will be available to transport workers this season but there will be next. We're sure that everyone joins us in the wish that the new company will enjoy many successful seasons.

Folks you still have a chance to contribute to that most worthy and deserving of causes, the "JIMMY" Fund. Saturday morning there will be the annual "Kartoon Karnival" at the State Theatre sponsored by the Mack Baking Company of Bangor. The show starts at 10:30 and your admission is a twenty-five cent donation to "JIMMY". Given a break by the weatherman a tag day will also be held Saturday. In case of inclement weather it will go on the following Saturday.

Coin receptacles are placed in many business places in the city and your donations will help tremendously. Local chairman of the Fund, Eddie Haskins, State Theatre manager, will greatly appreciate any checks. Just mail it to Eddie made out to the "JIMMY" Fund and he'll do the rest.

One of the most interesting donations Mr. Haskins has received since the campaign started came from three small children. The donation was $2.00 and it came from Marcia Sue Kelley, Pamela Fenderson and Charles Fenderson, grandchildren of Mrs. Charles Fenderson.

It seems that these youngsters recently staged a show of their own and raised the $2.00 which will go to help those little Jimmys and Janes who can no longer go to shows.

Give as generously as you can to Jimmy in these closing days of the campaign. Time is running out for the drive and also for many little ones afflicted by that dread disease —CANCER. Your help can bring closer that glad day when a cure is found for cancer in children.

in the opposite direction and driven by Frank Howard of Calais. Damage to McPheter's car was estimated at $200. Calais police took Howard into custody and booked him on an intoxication charge.

Accident number two took place at the corner of Spring and Washington streets when Calais fireman Alvah Hall, in his haste to answer the fire alarm, cut the corner too sharply and struck a utility pole. Damage to the front of his car was estimated at $200.

Much confusion resulted from the false alarm and apparatus from both Calais and St. Stephen, N. B., departments drove around in heavy traffic trying to locate the "fire." The third accident took place when a pick-up truck owned by St. Stephen fire chief, Eastman rolled across Main street and crashed into a car owned by Miss Grace McKay. The truck was unoccupied and it is believed that someone released the brake. Damage to the McKay car was estimated at $80 and at $25 to the truck. The McKay vehicle was parked.

Cars driven by Helena W. Daley of Philadelphia, Pa., and Frances M. Turner of Eastport collided at the State picnic area in Perry early on Thursday afternoon. Both cars were headed east when the accident occurred and investigating state police said that the Turner car ran into the rear of the Daley vehicle. There were no injuries. Damage to each car was estimated at $100.

This summer season of ours is going by all too rapidly to suit most of us. When the next issue of this paper comes out August will have departed, also Labor Day, and the schools will have opened after the long summer vacation. Three weeks from Sunday marks the official beginning of the fall season which can, and frequently does, provide some of the finest weather of the year. It is to be hoped that such will be the case this fall for certainly our spring and summer weather gave little cause for cheering.

Although sorry to see him and his family leave Calais his many friends along the border were pleased that U. S. Immigration Inspector Chester Ivers has recently been promoted to a higher position as investigator for the Immigration Department with headquarters at Baltimore, Md.

Chet, who has been stationed here for about 18 months, left Monday to take over his new position. Mrs. Ivers and their six children will join him in the near future.

Seven cases involving violations of the motor vehicle laws were heard in municipal court the past week.

Frank Howard of Calais was arraigned Saturday morning before Court Recorder Samuel Saunders charged with driving under the influence on Main street Friday evening. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $100.

At the same session William E. Fenlason of Danforth paid a fine of $25 after pleading guilty to a charge of driving at an imprudent rate of speed on Route One at Princeton August 23, and Earl Graham of Machias paid a fine of $15 after pleading guilty to a charge of operating an overloaded truck on Route 191 at Meddybemps August 24.

Robbinston To Construct Ultra-Modern Grade School

by Carol Ann Obliskey

ROBBINSTON — Twelve years ago, in 1947, the town of Robbinston decided to save money each year which would be set aside in the prospect of building a new school to replace the two room structure which still exists. The town voted to set aside $43,000 for the construction of the new building. At present there is around $26,000 in the school building fund, and the architectural plans for the building have been completed.

Incidentally, the architect is Eaton Tarbell of Bangor, one of New England's most gifted designers who has drawn up plans for more than 700 buildings in the state of Maine, including Bangor's Vine Street School which last year was given a top national award for excellence. At present Tarbell is at work as the architect for still another project, a $3,000,000 school in the Bangor area.

The bids for the construction of the proposed Robbinston school are going out this week, and are to be in by July 30. It is planned to have the actual construction under way during the first weeks of August, and the school completed in the late fall. The site of the proposed building will be the William Ribber property. This 10-acre plot of land was purchased last year by Attorney Thomas S. Bridges of Robbinston, who turned it over to the town as a gift.

Three Room Building

The proposed school itself will be a three-classroom building with each room to be 24 x 36 feet. There will also be several service rooms such as a kitchen, a room for storage, a furnace room, and a combination office and clinic.

The idea for this last room is that it would be constructed in such a way that it could serve as a school clinic and a public clinic for various town purposes.

The street side of the proposed building would be glass, and inside the school, the corridor would be of glass which would allow the sunlight to drift into the classrooms. The clerestory windows above would also allow the sunlight in, making it possible to use "solar heat" and thereby saving on fuel.

Two of the classrooms are planned to be separated by a movable door which would convert the two rooms into a good sized auditorium. This auditorium would be used for school functions, and could also be used for town meetings and other public activities which require a large room.

Those people who are at present on the committee for the planning of the proposed school building are: Clarence Moholland as chairman; John Malona as vice-chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Thompson as secretary; Alan Burke; Mrs. Estelle Johnson; Reed Johnson; Noel Cleland; Raymond Morrell; Darrell Warren; Donald Perry; Harry Stanhope and Ray Cook.

Swimming Lessons

Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 to 10:45 a.m. ages 5-12. children who cannot swim I would like to mention regardless of the condition that the child cannot make every lesson or will only be starting now or later.

Tuesday and Thursday from 9:30 to 10:15 a.m., ages 13-16 students who cannot swim. You are welcome anytime during the summer to start.

Monday, Wednesday and Friday Intermediate classes 10:45 to 11:30 Boys and girls who are swimming a little and would like to strengthen there strokes.

Tuesday and Thursday 10:15 to 11:30 a.m. Junior and Senior Life Saving tests and courses offered plus water survival scheduled.

Saturday - diving lessons from 10 to 11 all ages.

General swim Monday through Saturday from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Sunday 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Pool will be open evenings if weather permits.

Adult lessons will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 - 8 p.m. If you cannot make them all try to make at least one of the evening lessons. Last year we had a good start of about 16 adults which ranged from 18 to 50 years old. I know that more would like to enter, but all is needed is a little drive and anxiety to learn. I feel that regardless of age, you still can swim and who knows it could mean an important thing in the future to you or your family.

Come out and enjoy yourself as others have.

I will also help some of the other adults in furthering their ability to swim regardless if they can swim. The Red Cross lists the following swim strokes. (1) American crawl. (2) Breast stroke. (3) Inverted breast stroke, (4) Side stroke. (5) Overarm side stroke. (6) Back crawl. (7) Trudgen Stroke, (8) Trudgen crawl

LIGHTING IS FURTHER BUT DIMMER

Calais Council Brushes Aside Lighting Experts' Recommendations

The city council in Calais Monday evening voted to set aside lighting engineers' plans in order to re-distribute the six remaining new streets. Originally, the new street lighting was to extend as far down Main Street as Church Street; now, however, they will go to the foot of Calais Avenue.

The policy-makers okayed the The police committee was named to investigate motorists' mak
